Tell v. Mecklenburger Buffel SchHI

Certified Police Service Dog - Narcotics Dog

Tell is a very serious self-confident police service dog with a pedigree to match. Before being hit by a car and retired he was NAPWDA (North American Police Working Dog Assoc) Certified in Obedience, Aggression Control, and Building & Area Search. He was a narcotics detection dog, a certified patrol dog, and he had a Schutzhund 1 and "A Normal hips. He was imported from Germany.

Tell would search all night long, he would never quit. His practical tracking was very good. He once tracked a five-hour-old track of an escapee for about four miles, before a customs helicopter picked up the dirt bag. Tell's narc work was fun. The only problem was that you could not take the toy away. He had to be put in a down and out the toy or trade with him. His prey was really aggressive.

His bark and guard was excellent, it scared a lot of helpers. Tell did "running call offs" and responded to recalls after being sent. He would do a down in route but with him, he just loaded and went through the roof unless he could be turned so he would look away from the bad guy.

Orfey is a middle sized dark black and tan dog with a big East German head. He was imported from Belgium in December 1992. Orfey's fathers bloodlines go to Sagus and Grief.

Gento is an outstanding dog and he is a hip improver. He is also an extremely hard dog. He has produced many, many police dogs and top competition dogs in Germany, Belgium, and Holland. His sire (Robie) is one of the DDRs best producing stud dogs. Robie was a super hip producer, one of the best ever. He also was an extremely tough dog. In combining Robie with Sargus and Grief you ended up with an outstanding dog in Gento.

Iwa Harro is one of the more popular producers of working dogs in Germany today. A number of Harro sons have competed in the Bundessieger and a Harro son won the Schutzhund USA Nationals in 1994. Harro produces a tremendous amount of drive for obedience in his dogs.

Orfey is an extremely high drive dog. He carry's the self-confidence and independence that is needed for police service work and the drive for obedience that is needed for high competition obedience.
